MSDIS General News
In the final days of August, MSDIS has renewed its efforts to make LiDAR metadata more accessible. Since the MSDIS rebuild, LiDAR metadata files were only available if they were specifically asked for which, while entirely doable, was occasionally time consuming if a user needed data from multiple projects. To address this, the metadata and support documents of each LiDAR project have been assembled into zip files, those zip files have been moved to the MSDIS download server, and a shapefile of the LiDAR project boundaries has been created with links to the metadata zip files. This project-level metadata shapefile has been added to all of the MSDIS data download apps and can be turned on and off via the layer lists. This task is still a work in progress as at last one of the older metadata projects doesn't appear to have any metadata documentation and there are several project narratives that live on the MSDIS LiDAR server but exist outside of any actual project folder.

MSDIS Downtime
No outages were reported during August 2021. As is traditional, however, we did notice some internal slowdown during the first week of the start of the Mizzou Fall semester. As far as we know, this slowdown was exclusively within the Mizzou network and we did not receive any reports from MSDIS users. We couldn't even reproduce the problem ourselves from our home office at the time of the slowdown.
