MSDIS General News
March 2023 was a quiet month, and we have no major announcements. As this is the final MSDIS report before the end of the Mizzou Spring Semester, though, we would like to extend a big thanks to #1 award winning undergrad intern Morgan Hurt for another successful semester of helping us with various grant-related tasks. Morgan tackled several projects for us this semester and she excelled at conquering all the challenges we put in her way. She plans to join us again in the Fall 2023 semester, but that will be the final time she can work with the clearinghouse as part of our internship-for-class-credit program. Once Morgan's time with MSDIS has ended, some of you in St Louis can expect to be contacted by us about hiring her for an actual job. Alternatively, if you happen to be a GIS professional in the St Louis area whose agency/employer/firm/whatever knows it will need a very talented, very hardworking employee sometime in early Summer 2024, please feel free to let us know so we can get that paperwork started.

MSDIS Downtime
As is regularly the case during the month of March, MSDIS experiences some slowdown during the week of Spring Break. While none of our services outright stopped working, several were so slow to respond that they were effectively offline. This was likely caused by routine DoIT maintenance being conducted while Mizzou students were out of town. We can confirm that the slowdown coincided with several alerts from IT about work being done to the network. Once the slowdown was brought to our attention, we restarted the Image Server, which seemed to resolve the issue.
